Class Description:

This day-camp is a week-long program designed to introduce beginning music students to a small ensemble setting. Small class sizes allow students to work closely with peers and an experienced instructor as they learn ensemble etiquette, music theory, group dynamics, and basic improvisational skills.

This class is ideal for any student with about a year of experience on their instrument, but it is still friendly to those with less experience as long as they have basic sight-reading abilities and a willingness to learn. Orchestral strings, woodwind, brass, and piano students are welcome.

This day-camp is open to students ages 11-17.

Students will be grouped with other kids around their age for instruction and activities.
