Class Description:

This week-long day-camp introduces students to the fundamentals of creating their own music. Through guided activities and hands-on exploration, participants will learn how composers use melody, rhythm, harmony, and form to bring musical ideas to life.

Students will experiment with composing short pieces, explore a variety of styles, and develop the skills to turn their musical ideas into finished works. Along the way, they'll build confidence in expressing their creativity and gain a deeper understanding of how music is structured.

No prior composition experience is required - just curiosity, imagination, and a willingness to try something new. Students should be comfortable reading music on a grand staff (bass and treble clef). Open to students of all instrumental backgrounds.

This day-camp is open to students ages 11-17.

Each class is limited to a maximum of 8 participants.
